Coffee: group organisation

Group management.

As targets are set each year for each farm, members pay fees for services provided and sub groups are formed once a group size becomes too large and th group set objectives and discusses needed changes to increase quality of crop. Pick ripe cherries of coffee only and dry off ground and plant shade trees.
Finally, groups provide desired quantity of coffee to buyers and get good prices through buliking.