

How to choose healthy chicks

Chick selection

During chick selection, always ensure that the chicks are alert and active by observing their activities, normally healthy chicks are always busy feeding, drinking, and exercising. Also, select chicks with bright rounded eyes without discharge from the nostrils. It is highly recommended to avoid chicks with scissor beaks, as well as those with abnormal coiled necks. Additionally, select chicks with straight legs with the ability to stand, and walk properly without any form of support. Lastly, avoid chicks with pasty butts as this will result in complications and losses.