

Top 5 best supplements to fatten local/ village chicken and boost their egg production.

Best supplements

One of the best chicken supplements is scratch feeds. Some of the ingredients to prepare these feeds are either maize, rice, or bran, either soybean meal, or sunflower cake, and salt. Additionally, these feeds are prepared by crashing grains that are then mixed with energy and protein supplements necessary for boosting growth weight gain, and egg production.

Other best supplements.

Also, provide leafy vegetables to local chickens these have vitamins and minerals to boost the chicken's immune system, weight gain, and egg production. Alternatively, feed chickens on probiotics, especially fermented yogurt and apple cider vinegar these help in digestion and absorption of nutrients from feeds as well as balancing gut PH. Furthermore, give 2 grams of pumpkin seed powder per bird per day, this provides vitamins as well as deworming. Lastly, give herbs like aloe Vera to birds to boost their immunity, weight gain, and egg production.
