

Using Native Shrubs to Increase Soil Health and Crop Yield

Using shrubs

First, keep shrubs in field and during land preparation, cut shrubs at soil surface and do not burn them instead chopcut them into pieces and spread them with leaves in the field. During ploughing, plough them into soil to break down and prevent nematodes and finally keep native shrubs in field.